Resp.	246	Letter from Kristin Simmon-Lowman, LCSW - 2/23/2024		Respondent's Defense/Rula Dias, Casimiro Dias, J. Khoury, M. Khoury, E. Khoury, Dr. Petracek, Dr. Shirinian	Hearsay and relevance. The document does not look like a business record, rather it looks as if it was prepared for use for some other purpose, as evidenced by its being addressed to "Whom in May Concern." Subject to connection, the facts contained in this document have no relevance to the proceeding.	This document may be used, at least, to impeach Petitioner's rebuttal expert as a non-hearsay use. The content of that report is unknown at this time, as are the materials he will be considering. Further, this is a business record. Further, Petitioner's one-word objection does not provide sufficient context as to why this statement would necessarily be inadmissible for all purposes or in any context. Finally, courts routinely relax evidentiary rules in the context of Hague Convention cases, see Dkt. 60, Petitioner's Reply at 5-6 (collecting cases), and regardless of the Court's specific approach here Petitioner has provided no argument or justification for pretrial exclusion. The day before this exhibit list was due Petitioner re-wrote its objections in response to Respondent's response, which remains unchanged above. Respondent contends that this is procedurally improper under the tight timeline for objection exchanges and conferences, and that Petitioner's objection should be understood to be its original objection of "hearsay."

Resp.	377	Women's Support Center Domestic Violence Victim Certification, 4/25/2024		Respondent's Defense/Rula Dias, Casimiro Dias, M. Khoury, E. Khoury, J. Khoury, Dr. Shirinian	hearsay	This document is admissible for at least the following reasons: it is not hearsay, it is a business record, it will not be used for the truth of the matter asserted, it subject to hearsay exceptions including the residual exception. Further, Petitioner's one-word objection does not provide sufficient context as to why this document would necessarily be inadmissible for all purposes or in any context. Finally, courts routinely relax evidentiary rules in the context of Hague Convention cases, see Dkt. 60, Petitioner's Reply at 5-6 (collecting cases), and regardless of the Court's specific approach here Petitioner has provided no argument or justification for pretrial exclusion.

This objection is particularly curious as a version of this document, less legible hence the duplicate, appears on Petitioner's own exhibit list. Further, Petitioner's one-word objection does not provide sufficient context as to why this document would necessarily be inadmissible for all purposes or in any context.
